STATE QUESTION NO. 744 INITIATIVE PETITION NO. 391

The measure repeals a Section of the State Constitution. The repealed section required the Legislature annually to spend $42.00 for each common school student. Common schools offer pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade.

The measure also adds a new Article to the Constitution. It sets a minimum average amount the State must annually spend on common schools. It requires the State to spend annually, no less than the average amount spent on each student by the surrounding states. Those surrounding states are Missouri, Texas, Kansas, Arkansas, Colorado and New Mexico. When the average amount spent by surrounding states declines, Oklahoma must spend the amount it spent the year before.

The measure deals with money spent on day-to-day operations of the schools and school districts. This includes spending on instructions, support services and non-instruction services. The measure does not deal with money spent to pay debt, on buildings or on other capital needs. The measure requires that increased spending begin in the first fiscal year after its passage. It requires that the surrounding state average be met in the third fiscal year after passage. The measure does not raise taxes, nor does it provide new funding for the new spending requirements.

STATE QUESTION NO. 746 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 347

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · With six partisan appointees, the amendment achieves a balance between the two major parties. · The apportionment power is balanced between the governor and both houses of the state legislature. · It requires a majority of the commission to approve orders of apportionment, thus encouraging bi- partisanship. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · It would add even more partisanship and bias to the redistricting process. · The amendment removes three statewide office holders who have no stake in apportionment outcome. · There could be a deadlock on this committee, since the chair has no vote, thus solving nothing. · The amendment includes only existing political parties and excludes independents and future parties.

STATE QUESTION NO. 750 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 350
 This measure amends a section of the State Constitution. The section deals with initiative petitions. It also deals with referendum petitions. It deals with how many signatures are required on such petitions. It changes that requirement.

“Initiative” is the right to propose laws and constitutional amendments.
 “Referendum” is the right to reject a law passed by the Legislature.
 The following voter signature requirements apply. 8% must sign to propose a law. 15% must sign to propose to change the State Constitution. 5% must sign to order a referendum.

These percentages are based upon the State office receiving the most total votes at the last General Election. The measure changes this basis. The measure’s basis uses every other General Election. General Elections are held every two years. The Governor is on the ballot every four years. The measure’s basis only uses General Elections with the Governor on the ballot. The President is on the ballot in intervening General Elections. The measure’s basis does not use General Elections with the President on the ballot. More votes are usually cast at Presidential General Elections. Thus, the measure would generally have a lowering effect on the number of required signatures.

PROPOSONENTS SAY	OPPONENTS SAY
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · It would be easier for citizens to petition the government by lowering the number of voter signatures required to propose a state law, change to the State Constitution or order a referendum. · It would make it less confusing to petitioners because the number required would change every 4 years instead of every 2 years. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · The amendment makes it easier for well-funded special interest groups to get issues on the ballot, thus weakening the voice of the people as a whole. · By lowering the number of signatures needed to bring a petition to vote, the measure would weaken the legislature’s duty to debate and decide important issues impacting the state.

STATE QUESTION NO. 751 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 351

This measure amends the State Constitution. It adds a new Article to the Constitution. That Article deals with the State’s official actions. It dictates the language to be used in taking official State action. It requires that official State actions be in English. Native American languages could also be used. When Federal law requires, other languages could also be used.

These language requirements apply to the State’s “official actions.” The term “official actions” is not defined. The Legislature could pass laws determining the application of the language requirements. The Legislature would also pass laws implementing and enforcing the language requirements.

STATE QUESTION NO. 754 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 354

This measure adds a new section to the Oklahoma Constitution. It adds Section 55A to Article 5. The Legislature designates amounts of money to be used for certain functions. These designations are called appropriations. The measure deals with the appropriation process.

The measure limits how the Constitution could control that process. Under the measure the Constitution could not require the Legislature to fund state functions based on:

1. Predetermined constitutional formulas,
2. How much other states spend on a function,
3. How much any entity spends on a function.

Under the measure these limits on the Constitution’s power to control appropriations would apply even if:

1. A later constitutional amendment changed the Constitution, or

2. A constitutional amendment to the contrary was passed at the same time as this measure. Thus, under the measure, once adopted, the measure could not be effectively amended. Nor could it be repealed.

STATE QUESTION NO. 756 LEGISLATIVE REFERENDUM NO. 356

This measure adds a new section of law to the State Constitution. It adds Section 37 to Article 2. It defines “health care system.” It prohibits making a person participate in a health care system. It prohibits making an employer participate in a health care system. It prohibits making a health care provider provide treatment in a health care system. It allows persons and employees to pay for treatment directly. It allows a health care provider to accept payment for treatment directly. It allows the purchase of health care insurance in private health care systems. It allows the sale of health insurance in private health care systems.

The measure’s effect is limited. It would not affect any law or rule in effect as of January 1, 2010.

Nor could the measure affect or negate all federal laws or rules. The United States Constitution has a Supremacy Clause. That clause makes federal law the supreme law of the land. Under that clause Congress has the power to preempt state law. When Congress intends to preempt state law, federal law controls. When Congress intends it, constitutionally enacted federal law would preempt some or all of the proposed measure.
